

Teaching Residents and Fellows to Disclose Adverse Events: A Two-Part Program

---

Session Leaders

Denise LaMarra, MS, Dir. of Standardized Patient Program

Jennifer Myers, MD, Professor of Clinical Medicine

Steven Raper, MD, JD, Associate Professor of Surgery

Goal: Prepare participants to run a workshop for resident and fellow trainees on how to disclose adverse events to patients and their families.

---

Objectives

- Identify communication skills specific to adverse event disclosure
- Discuss how to incorporate Standardized Patients as a teaching strategy for adverse event disclosure.
- Practice your feedback and coaching skills to help trainees successfully lead a disclosure conversation

Methods:

A multi-modal approach

Part One: Asynchronous Blog Session: April 2-April 21

10-Minute Commitment

Participants will watch a short case-based video scenario and provide a brief response to a prompt

Part Two: Facilitated Workshop with Standardized Patients: Wednesday, April 25, 3:00-4:30PM

90-Minute Commitment

Facilitators will lead an interactive, engaging session wherein participants practice and receive feedback on critical components of teaching and providing feedback to learners related to adverse event disclosures.
