Research Ethics and Policy Series

Assessing the Scientific Case for Early Phase Trials and/or Innovative Care: The PATH Approach

Jonathan Kimmelman, PhD

Director of Biomedical Ethics Unit
Department of Equity, Ethics and Policy
McGill University | Quebec, Canada

Weds. January 10, 2024 12pm-1pm ET Hybrid

Jonathan Kimmelman is a James McGill Professor in the Biomedical Ethics Unit / Social Studies of Medicine at McGill University, Montreal, QC. He has cross appointments in Experimental Medicine, Epidemiology, Biostatistics and Occupational Health, and Human Genetics. Kimmelman holds a PhD in Molecular Biophysics and Biochemistry from Yale University and joined McGill in 2005.

His research revolves around the ethical, social and policy dimensions of translational research. Current projects are investigating risk, prediction, validity and knowledge value across the trajectory of drug development. Another set of projects is pursuing alternative frameworks and understandings concerning the role and content of clinical research ethics.
