

Dear Penn CHIPS Community,

We invite you to RSVP to join us and to share the two opportunities below with your community.

Up Next in QIPS:

Leveraging Human Centered Design in Your QI Project: A Case Example Highlighting Qualitative Methods, Behavioral Economics & Implementation Science, and Systems Approaches

Emilia J. Flores, PHD, RN
Director Penn Pathways
Program
Penn Medicine Center for Evidence-based Practice

Corrine Rhodes, MD, MPH
Associate Professor of Clinical
Medicine
Associate Medical Director of Quality,
Primary Care Service Line
Director of Population Health,
Division of General Internal
Medicine

Drs. Flores and Rhodes join Up Next in QIPS to share a body of work on hypertension control in the primary care setting that included:

- Development of a "Penn Preferred" Hypertension Management Pathway with stakeholder groups
- Iterative development on passive and interruptive electronic medical record nudges
- Efforts to de-implement race-based treatment heuristics

RSVP HERE to join us virtually on 2/1/24 at 12:00PM

Join us to learn about our graduate-level Healthcare Quality & Safety Programs

Penn CHIPS Leadership, students, and alumni will share program features, FAQs, and impact on their careers and health systems.

- Applications are due 3/1/2024.
- Read about our programs here.
- Not interested in formally enrolling in a program? Ask us about ad-hoc learning experiences through our topic-specific courses.
- Questions? Contact us at CHIPS@penmedicine.upenn.edu

CERTIFICATE IN HEALTHCARE QUALITY & SAFETY

The Certificate in Healthcare Quality & Safety is a two year program designed for individuals who are interested in acquiring a robust foundation in the science of quality improvement and patient safety.

MASTER IN HEALTHCARE QUALITY & SAFETY

The Master in Healthcare Quality & Safety is designed for individuals who are interested in pursuing a career focused on quality & safety leadership - locally, regionally or nationally - and desire more in-depth education.

RSVP HERE to join us at an upcoming webinar

 PennCHIPS provides access to an incredible community of thought leaders—from whom I learned a great deal about safe, reliable, effective, and equitable healthcare delivery. I am so grateful for the tangible skills and experience I gained from the CHIPS Program.

– Meghan Galligan, MD, MSHP, PennCHIPS Graduate